Our history 1953-1981

1953

1958

1963

Expanding on the sole product, 5-56®, CRC grew to meet the needs of the automotive, industrial and electrical markets, and moved to a 20,000 square foot facility in Dresher, PA.

1971

Larsen invented CRC Brakleen® Brake Parts Cleaner creating the largest category in brake maintenance solutions for automotive professionals and do-it-yourselfers worldwide.

1974

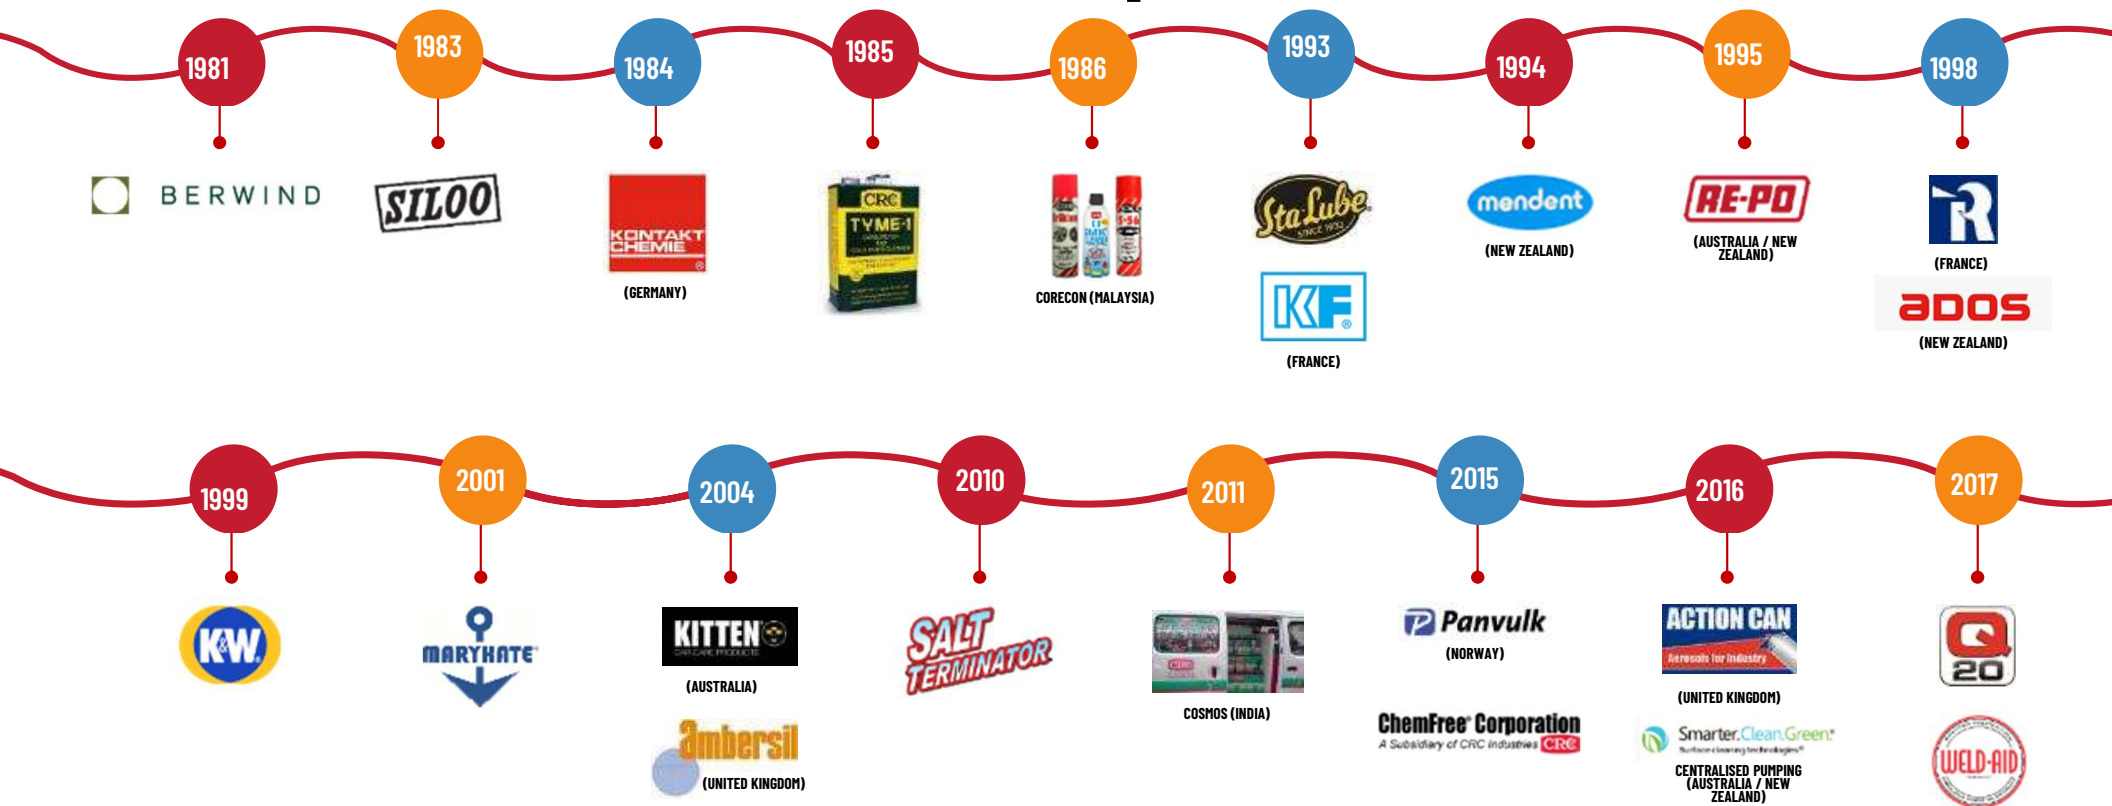

CRC outgrew the Dresher facility and moved to Warminster, PA which would ultimately become the company's largest manufacturing facility and global headquarters.

1981

CRC was acquired by current parent company, fifth-generation, family-owned Berwind Corporation.
